To whom it may concern,

The founders of the website Gotoprotocol.com engaged consultants from the WIRB-Copernicus Group (“WCG Consulting”) to provide a third party review of the website to ensure that the website follows best practices related to the protection of human subjects in research. WCG’s review occurred prior to the implementation and public release of the website.

Though the target audience of Gotoprotocol.com is not potential subjects, WCG Consulting provided recommendations for improvement for those areas of the website that might relate to human subject protection. Gotoprotocol.com incorporated these recommendations into its design of the website.

WCG Consulting is satisfied with the revisions made by Gotoprotocol.com in response to recommendations by our consultants.
